

OLMS Guide to Working with Downloaded LM Filing Data

I. Introduction

This guide was created to help users understand the file structure and contents of the Download Yearly Data feature of the OLMS Online Public Disclosure Room. Advanced database concepts are presented in this document and it is assumed the reader will already have an understanding of relational database structure and basic SQL.

Less technical users can still find a wealth of information by using our Online Public Disclosure Union Search feature, which allows for advanced search options and the ability to download data in a Comma Separated Values format which is compatible with Microsoft Excel.

II. Zip File Contents

All data for LM-2, LM-3, and LM-4 reports filed with OLMS for a particular year is stored in one compressed “zip” file that contains 46 related text files discussed in this document. In order to work with the data files, the contents of the zip file should be extracted to your computer’s hard drive. To do this, right click on the name of the .zip file (for example, 2009.zip), select “Extract All,” and use the “Compressed (zipped) Folders Extraction Wizard.”

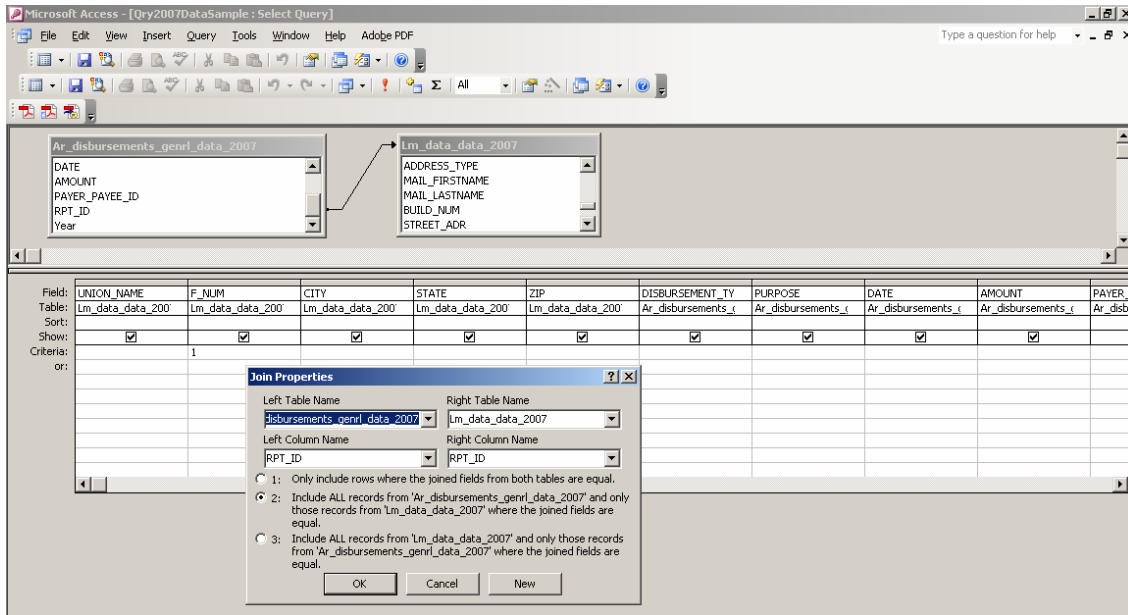

LM-2, LM-3, and LM-4 filing data is stored in 23 of the 46 text files. Each of the files has the word “data” in the file name. Each data file also has associated with it a similarly named, separate “meta” file, which identifies the field names in the corresponding data file and the data type of each field (integer, variable character (varchar), or char (unsigned 16-bit (2-byte)) numbers ranging in value from 0 through 65535). The data and meta files together equal the 46 files in a zip file. (Note: some zip files contain 48 files because they contain two additional text and data files related to T-1 data).

III. Text Files Must be Joined to Display Related Data

The LM_data_data_[year].txt file is the file that contains the primary union filer’s information including file number (assigned by OLMS), the filer’s address, and other identifying information.

Each report filed with OLMS is assigned a unique identification number. Report data is saved in multiple data files. The unique number associated with each report is identified in the RPT_ID field which is included in each of the downloaded data files.. In order to know which organization filed the information that appears in a data file, the LM_data_data file and the other file containing the desired data must be imported into Microsoft Access or another relational database program as separate tables. A join must then be created between the two tables using the RPT_ID field from each table.

Below is an example of a simple join in the Microsoft Query design grid between an LM_data_data file and the Ar_disbursements_genrl_data table (which contains data appearing in Schedules 15 through 20 of the LM-2) which filters for all data in the latter table for OLMS filer 000-001.

The related SQL statement for the above join is shown below:

SELECT Lm_data_data_2007.UNION_NAME, Lm_data_data_2007.F_NUM,
Lm_data_data_2007.CITY, Lm_data_data_2007.STATE, Lm_data_data_2007.ZIP,
Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007.DISBURSEMENT_TYPE,
Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007.PURPOSE, Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007.DATE,
Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007.AMOUNT,
Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007.PAYER_PAYEE_ID,
Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007.RPT_ID, Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007.Year

FROM Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007 LEFT JOIN Lm_data_data_2007 ON
Ar_disbursements_genrl_data_2007.RPT_ID = Lm_data_data_2007.RPT_ID

WHERE (((Lm_data_data_2007.F_NUM)=1));

IV. Spreadsheet limitations

In Microsoft Excel 97 for Windows, Microsoft Excel 2000, Microsoft Excel 2002, and Microsoft Office Excel 2003, text files that contain more than 65,536 rows cannot be opened in their entirety. You cannot open these files because these versions of Microsoft Excel are limited to 65,536 rows.

Several of the .txt files contain more rows of data than this. If you open a file that contains more data than this, the text file is truncated at the row 65,536, and you receive the following error message: File not loaded completely. However, you can use a macro to open the file and automatically break the text into multiple worksheets. Additional information about creating a macro to do this can be found at: <http://support.microsoft.com/kb/120596>. Note: Versions of Excel later than Excel 2003 have a limit of 1,048,576 rows, which is sufficient to open any of the text files.

V. Delimiter

All 25 text files that contain data are in pipe (|) delimited format. Each of the data files can be opened in Microsoft Excel (subject to the limitations noted above) by selecting File, Open, and selecting the desired file. (Note: be sure that on the “Files of Type” line, you have selected .txt.)

When opening a text file, Excel automatically opens a text import wizard. In step 1 of the Wizard, select the Delimited radio button. In step 2, identify the delimiter as the pipe character in the “Other” box.
